Western Neighborliness Gives Us a Lesson in Gratitude

For many years the story of the farmer who saved a life is told. It is a story of a man who, in the face of a great disaster, saved a life. It is a story of a man who, in the face of a great disaster, saved a life. It is a story of a man who, in the face of a great disaster, saved a life.

But that is what happened, for one day when he awoke, feeling pretty gloomy and afraid, he heard a great commotion outside, a lot of talking and the most mysterious sounds. And there were his neighbors ready for work, with plows, drills and harrows, and the fruit of their labors was all for him.

The curtain was drawn right there, but it did not shut out the eloquence of the simple words of the farmer. It might be made to cover a multitude of things. But most of all it makes one think of all the homely, everyday opportunities that slip from our grasp while we are protesting our creed of life and faith.

For, after all, it is the practical "friend in need" when need is the greatest, who makes the world understand the real spirit of brotherly love in the human heart and of Christianity which stands the test of "deeds, not words."

The tailored blouse has its own place in the wardrobe from which no elaborate chiffon or lingerie blouse can oust it, and, perhaps, one of the reasons for this is the ease with which it may be made. Even the amateur dressmaker could fashion the blouse illustrated. The back is perfectly plain, while in front a tuck over each shoulder gives the necessary fullness over the bust. The front is laid in a box plait stitched at the edges. Many of these tailored waists are being made of silk to match the coat suit, and crepe de chine and messaline are both suitable.

However, the tub blouse will never go out of style, and this pattern may be developed in white linen, the wash silks, percale, gingham, and madras.

Fancy pearl or crystal buttons add much to the appearance of the tailored blouse. It is well, when making the waist of silk to use muslin or linen, or, in fact, any wash material that may be at hand, to stiffen the cuffs and collar.

The above pattern may be obtained from the Herald's Pattern Service, and will be sent postpaid by the Fashion Department of The Washington Herald on receipt of 10 cents. Be sure to state number and size.

NEW COLLARS IDEAL FOR OFFICE WEAR

Robespierre Model Looks Well with Tailored Suits.

Really business-like looking is the new Robespierre collar of flat shape, and just the accessory needed for the tailored shirt waist of the girl who spends most of her waking hours in an office. If she possesses sufficient energy, after the day's work is done with, she may make one of these collars for herself from fine white linen.

The collar proper is a turn-over fitting flat across the shoulders and extending half way to the sleeve tops, rather narrow at the back, but in front forming into two squares which overlap the jabots. These jabots, which like the neck portion of the accessory, are finished with a double row of ajour work, are composed of triangles of the linen closely plaited at the top and falling into loose, but flat folds, about this neck piece is the satin covering of the tiny buttons which, in groups of two, define the inner edge of the jabots. Black satin buttons look smart thus employed because the mangle effect in new wear is always good, but dark red, bright green, dull purple, or Dutch blue may be used. And old gold, the fashionable shade of the present season, is at its best on white.

Narrow Tailor Shape.

Ajourn work also flashes a new Robespierre collar of finest Irish linen, cut in a narrow sailor shape, and having points extending half-way to the arm-pits and then sloping abruptly toward the center of the breast. This collar, which is intended for use with a bodice having a rather low-cut front to be filled in with a transparent guimpe, supports double frills of accordion-plaited plain net border very widely with shadow lace ruffling, also accorcion-plaited.

Each frill is attached to a band of lawn reaching from the inner edge of

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty Seekers

Red Nose.—The nose is a more delicate organ than most people imagine. It should be touched as little as possible. For undue redness the treatment recommended in following paragraph will be of great effective. Apply without rubbing.

Muddy Skin. The safest, and most healthy, transparent appearance to the complexion is to apply ordinary mercuric ointment every night for from one to two weeks. This will gradually absorb the thin veil of surface skin. The new skin then in evidence is as fresh and velvety as a young girl's. The wax is applied like cold cream and washed off morning.

Wrinkles.—A harmless lotion made as follows has been found very effective in cases of wrinkles and sagging: Powdered azurite, 1 lb.; dissolved in which half a pt. Bath's the face in this occasionally.—Woman's Realm.

Bavarian Salad.
Two small onions, 2 heads of lettuce pulled to pieces, 1 boiled beet (cold and sliced), 3 tablespoons salad oil, 2 of vinegar, yolk of 1 raw egg, 1 tablespoon of salt and same of made mustard. Chop the onions exceedingly small and beat into the whipped egg the salt, mustard, and the vinegar. Put the lettuce into a salad bowl, cover with the beetroot, pour on the dressing. Pass the salad to each guest to help themselves.

Pretty Little Tea Sets.
Yellow china, the cups very attractive by shape and color, and are 50 cents each at one of our Oriental shops. Tea-makers, when at the top of a dripping bowl, are the cups. The tea-makers are 50c, and the cups are 50c. The tea-makers are 50c, and the cups are 50c.

Soft, Puffy, Light, Warm, Comfortable.

If you could only see this comfort in your mind's eye today just as it looks spread out on the counter and then imagine it on your own bed on a cold wintry night it would take a mighty strong will power on your part to resist ordering one on the spot.

In the first place, regarding the question of comfort, they are so light and at the same time so warm you will need very little other covering.

The filling is of pure lamb's wool, practically in one even sheet.

Then in the matter of looks—the covers are of lovely large floral patterned China silk, chrysanthemum, and rose designs, in delicate blues and pinks, with backing or linings of plain colored Jap silk to match the predominating tint of the upper side. Each is finished all around with a 9-inch border of the plain silk, and the tufting is done with silk ribbon.

TO MAKE REFORMS IN SCHOOLS.

New Accounting System Looking Toward Economy Planned.

A more modern and efficient accounting system is being planned for the District public schools by the Board of Education. Dr. William M. Davidson, superintendent of schools, has been authorized by the board to make a study of systems in use in New York, Boston, and other Eastern cities for this purpose. Dr. Davidson asked that the services of Alonzo Tweedale, auditor for the District, might be given him. The Commissioners granted this request, and Dr. Davidson and Mr. Tweedale will leave to-morrow night.

An accounting system is wanted whereby the cost of operating one school may be compared with that of another, and the system as a whole with the public schools of other cities. It is believed that with a more modern system of accounting many economies can be obtained.

Dr. Davidson and Mr. Tweedale will be gone about a week, and upon their return will make a report containing their recommendations to the Board of Education.

BEGINS AVIATION DUTY.

Lieut. Loren Call, a Washingtonian, Joins Army Fliers.

First Lieut. Loren Call, of the Coast Artillery, a Washington boy, yesterday reported to Capt. DeForest Chandler, in charge of the army aviation school at College Park, for aviation duty. Lieut. Call is one of the young army officers who recently answered the call for men to develop the uses of the aeroplane in warfare.

What machine Lieut. Call will learn to fly will not be known for several days. He will make a study of the Wright and Curtiss fliers and then make a choice. He is entitled to make his own selection.

Second Lieut. Eric L. Ellington, of the Third Cavalry, is expected to join the army's flying squad within the next ten days.

Dr. Davidson and Mr. Tweedale will be gone about a week, and upon their return will make a report containing their recommendations to the Board of Education.

SCHOOL BAND TO REORGANIZE.

First Rehearsal of Organization to Be Held Shortly.

The Washington High School Band, which was such a success last season, will re-organize for the year to-morrow. While only about twelve or fifteen members have returned to school, there are quite a number of new members, and the boys are looking forward to another successful year.

The principals of the different schools have been requested to ask all boys in their schools who play band instruments to be present at the first rehearsal. Rehearsals are to be held every Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in room 105, McKinley Manual Training School.

The band will again be under the baton of J. Raymond Wells, of Technical, while the business matters will be looked after by Frank Cheney, of Technical, and Walter Bradford, of Business. Harry White again will act in the capacity of faculty adviser.
